Tiger Life Resounded At Night

Teacher, Coach, Friend To All

Because he has given Tiger leadership and guidance ... Because he has shown patience and understanding ... Because he teaches that a "contribution above and beyond personal gain" is the most satisfying in life ... Because he has been a teacher, coach, and friend to all, the 1968 Tesoros is humbly and proudly dedicated to Bob Hamblin.

ACADEMICS

PUSD Guided By School Superintendents

Clifford Riddlebarger's determination and hard work resulted in the Placentia Unified School District's offering one of the county's best educational systems.

Skillfully combining their efforts, the Placentia Unified School District superintendents strengthened and unified the educational efforts of teachers and administrators. Clifford Riddlebarger led the decisions in his tenth year of service to the district while Francis Addy, Dr. Earle Brewer, Vic Knight, Charles Palmer, and Laurel Simpson assisted in formulating district policy, directing personnel, and serving in instruction.

And Board Of Trustees

Sal Zavala
President

Direct community action by the Placentia Unified School District Board of Trustees provided the basis for all district policy. In addition to forming policy, they also approved personnel and purchases.

The five energetic men who composed the board of trustees included Bob Harkness, Sal Zavala, Earl Shelley, Charles Cuff, and Roy Knauft. Bob Harkness, who has served on the board for five years, presided over board actions as president; while Sal Zavala, who has been a member for ten years, acted as vice-president. Replacing Martin Steigner in January of this year, Earl Shelley became the board's newest member and took over the duties of clerk. Another ten year member, Charles Cuff, also volunteered his time to the school board along with a relatively new member, Roy Knauft.

The time and energy these men devoted furthered community action by direct involvement and earned the thanks of all in the district.

Dave Tansey, Valencia's Chief Tiger,

Believing in students and faculty, Dave Tansey guided Valencia to a high rank among the state's secondary educational institutions. Valencia's principal commended the faculty for its educational credentials; while the students' maturity was rewarded by a minimum of rules and restrictions.

This trust not only resulted in an excellent school, but also earned Mr. Tansey the admiration of both students and faculty. Suzanne La Belle, a senior this year, expressed for all Valencians the emotions of admiration and thankfulness when, at the Christmas assembly, her portrait of him was presented to Dave Tansey, Valencia's chief tiger.

Valencia's proud Tigers evidenced Mr. Tansey's belief that we were responsible enough to warrant a minimum of rules.

And His Assistants

Joe Dunham
Curriculum

Collette Rocha could testify that visits to Mr. Miscione's office were not as fearful as many suspected.

Anthony Miscione
Attendance

Reinforcing Mr. Tansey's beliefs, the VHS vice principals strove to maintain the administration's image as an efficient supervisor of scholastic activities. Joe Dunham led these efforts by coordinating curriculum, while pupil services and welfare were directed by Miss Laura Shephard. Tony Miscione took charge of business affairs and attendance and assisted Mr. Dunham with curriculum assignments. The dedication and perseverance which characterized the vice principals' attitude resulted in an increased rapport between students and administrators.

Much office work often characterized an administrator's job, but Miss Shephard brightened her work with a cheerful smile.

Miss Laura Shephard
Pupil Services

Mr. Dunham's frequent conferences with Richard Norton and other Valencia teachers kept educational objectives in sight.

Counselors Advanced Friendly Guidance

As a service for all, the Valencia counseling staff enabled students to reach an understanding of their educational and vocational opportunities and interests. Both private and group counseling led to this achievement. In private counseling sessions, individual questions, problems, and class schedules were aired, discussed, and solved; in group counseling sessions, the class counselors lent their assistance and direction towards the questions, problems, and schedules of the class as a whole. If the counselors had not been so happy and willing to give their guidance, student goals would have remained unknown and unfulfilled. Accordingly, many thanks are owed to the counselors of Valencia for a successful school year.

Daniel Harrington
Senior Class

Joan Miles
Junior Class

Donald Shaffer
Sophomore Class

Donna Torgerson
Freshman Class

Answers, applications, and recommendations awaited seniors as final questions about graduation, college, and life "in the world" were presented to Daniel Harrington.

Joan Miles offered juniors advice about the all-important junior year. PSAT and NMSQT were two tests Joan Miles advised college-bound juniors to take.

Grade point averages, class schedules, and transfer registrations filled Donna Torgerson's desk, but an eager smile welcomed freshmen seeking her aid.

Donald Schafer's face mirrored concern about a sophomore's success at Valencia. Donald Schafer will continue to counsel the class of '70 until graduation from Valencia.

Mrs. Mary Gerhold
Nurse

Health And Library Services Added Quality To VHS

"Ouch!" "I don't feel well." "The pain ... the pain!" "May I go home?" These and similar exclamations were moaned daily to Mary Gerhold, school heroine, who resided in the nurse's office dispensing medical aid, attention, and advice. The value of Valencia's school nurse was well known among VHS Tigers, especially those who visited her regularly. Mrs. Gerhold will be remembered for her friendly and cheerful manner of healing infirmed Tigers.

However, Mrs. Gerhold was not the only indispensable person at Valencia. Serving as librarian and finder of facts, Betty Lemberger unveiled the secrets of the Dewey Decimal System to her Library Science students while helping studious Valencians find necessary books, magazines, and reference materials. These well-performed tasks earned her both the students' respect and friendship.

Mrs. Diane Lemberger
Librarian

Student nurses, such as Shirley Lancaster, attended to the practical business matters of the health office in order to allow Mrs. Gerhold more time to treat her patients.

Mary Gerhold, who has served as Valencia's nurse for 23 years, demonstrated the proper techniques of temperature taking on student nurse Kathy Orth.

VHS Students Prepared For Agricultural, Art,

Mrs. Joan Higbee
Art

Unlike most schools, Valencia's curriculum included a balanced program of animal husbandry and plant science. Elective courses, under the direction of Tom Meleo, gave interested students the opportunity to acquaint themselves personally with the agrarian sector of the economy.

Other elective classes at Valencia included art courses. Mrs. Higbee and Mrs. Turner directed these and helped Valencians achieve creative artistic expression.

Tom Meleo
Agriculture

Mrs. Carolyn Turner
Art

Art students Kathy Gibbs and Stephanie Ostoin made creative use of India ink in their artistic pursuits.

Not only did Mr. Meleo's classes provide experience with livestock, but, as he demonstrated here, they also included cultivation of plants.

Sheep and cows dotted Valencia's "Ag farm" and proved to be an invaluable source for knowledge of animal husbandry.

Mechanical tools were effectively used as an instrument of art by Wendy Long.

And Business Worlds

Mrs. Elizabeth Alvin
Shorthand, Typing

Revitalizing itself, the Business department received a completely new lab for the typing, shorthand, and transcription students. This lab, under the care and direction of Elizabeth Alvin in room 1113, contained new and exciting innovations which prompted an increased drive for excellence among business majors.

Within the classroom, 25 brand new electric typewriters awaited future typists while tomorrow's secretaries practiced shorthand and transcription with the aid of individual earphones and tapes which could be played at speeds varying from 50-150 wpm.

The skills acquired in this new lab, as well as the practice, guided by department chairman Gil Whitescarver, with office machines and finances, resulted in an excellent and qualified preparation for those students planning to enter the business world.

Under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Alvin, Nancy Kiger typed her assignment as part of the vocational arts program.

Mrs. Norma Bass

Gil Whitescarver assisted Vicki Stone with the operation of a ditto machine. Business machines were an essential part of the business education program.

Theater Arts Provided By Choral And Drama Departments

Ron Browne
Vocal Music

Culture came to Valencia under the auspices of the Drama and Music departments. Students in these departments combined their imagination, time, and devotion to put on many varied performances throughout the year.

Drama performances, which consisted of both assemblies and night-time productions, included skits, one act plays, and the full length plays "Harvey" and "Winnie the Pooh."

The music department, composed of both instrumental and vocal sections also entertained the student body at assemblies. However, they also performed for local clubs and competed against other county schools.

These extra-curricular activities not only entertained the student body, but also helped strengthen school spirit, increased appreciation of the arts, and improved the skills of participants.

Dick Gingrich
Instrumental Music

Mr. Gingrich and his baton led Valencia musicians to statewide fame.

Often the forgotten part of show biz, stage preparations were essential to the success of drama productions. Here Mrs. Glunt pitched in to ready the stage.

Music theory student Gary Davisson received individual assistance from band director Mr. Gingrich.

Concentration and daily practice, as shown by these members of Boys' Glee, led to assembly performances which were very pleasing.

Fluency Keyed Spirit Of Foreign Languages

Fluent communication in a second language was sought by almost 600 Valencia students who made their selection from 16 course offerings of French, German, Latin, and Spanish. The pursuit of these languages imparted to the students the ability to speak, write, and understand the language of their choice. Leading this pursuit was the French teacher, Louise Levy, department chairman, the German teacher, Gerhard Koehn, the Latin expert, Jack Koenig, and the two Spanish instructors, Gualberto Valadez and Sue Haverson. Through both the teachers' dedication and the students' interest, the VHS Foreign Language department led many students toward fluency in a second language.

Mrs. Louise Levy

Carrying his lunch, "Señor" Valadez was often seen crossing campus on the way to the weekly Spanish club meetings.

Written And Spoken

Extracurricular speech activities soared to a new level as 45 students participated in 15 Orange County novice and varsity speech tournaments. John De Nike and his students hosted 15 other high schools in Valencia's Third Novice speech tournament.

While speech and journalism students enjoyed local, as well as state and national competition, the Americanism Essay contest and National English Aptitude test probed the knowledge, originality, and ability of all English students.

The awards received proved the value of the English department's stress on both written and spoken language.

History Aimed To Instill Social Awareness

Greg Schook's lectures often included references to his bulletin boards as well as chalkboard diagrams of economic processes.

Past, present, and future social awareness was the ultimate goal of the social science courses offered by Valencia history instructors. These courses, which began in the freshman year and continued until graduation, provided a conscientious program of ancient, medieval, modern, and present day affairs.

Entering freshmen encountered the political and social beliefs of the ancients; while the thoughts of men up to Columbus' time were studied by the more advanced sophomores. Juniors studied modern day world affairs with an emphasis on U.S. involvement; whereas seniors applied three previous years of historical study in the fields of civics and economics.

These comprehensive courses of study proved to be an effective educational asset of Valencia and prepared the students to comprehend present day events.

Oral reports, as demonstrated by Linda Mehner, often provided an informative break from everyday routine in Mr. Roundtree's classes.

Lectures, combined with question and answer sessions, also proved to be an effective method of instructing history students. Here Mr. Lock demonstrated this technique.

Mr. Vela exemplified another teaching technique by giving individual assistance to freshman Wally Sutherlin.

Domestic Talents Stimulated In Home Ec

Mrs. Barbara Smurr gave expert advice to tailoring student Linda Rawson as Jan Pachiano listened.

Led by their chairman, Pat Hedges, Valencia's Homemaking Department attempted to give all girls a working knowledge of the basic skills needed to become both a successful family member and a thrifty homemaker.

With the added help of Barbara Smurr and Gladys Ketterel, girls were instructed in meal planning as well as in the basic principles of cooking and sewing. As the year progressed the course offerings were given added dimensions by the girls' direct involvement in the Alumni Reception and the Spring Fashion Show.

Durward Fowler

Practical knowledge interested these drafting students who were eager to learn the tricks of the trade.

Nearly fifty percent of the student body passed through the doors of the Industrial Arts department where seven faculty members offered classes in a wide variety of skills and occupations.

Graduates from the classes in drafting and metal trades found employment in industry or were placed in advanced classes at nearby junior colleges. With the development of similar courses in automotive, building, and electronic fields, Valencia graduates will soon be taking their places in many more industries. Especially noteworthy are those graduates who go on to become Industrial Arts teachers.

The work experience program was also handled in the busy Industrial Arts department office. This past year 120 students participated under the direction of Mr. Polley, who was assisted by Mr. Halloran. Juniors and seniors were placed in industry, offices, and retail establishments where they obtained valuable experience and pay in their chosen line of work.

Science Accented Curiosity And Initiative

Curiosity and initiative, guided by qualified instructors, signified Valencia's science course offerings. Freshmen first expressed these qualities in General Science. Then as the students entered their second year, they became mature enough to handle the complexities of Biology. Following the study of plants and animals, Juniors chose between studying the functions of the human body or studying the arrangement of the atoms of inorganic and organic compounds. In their final high school year, those seniors desiring a more intense scientific background pursued physics, the study of the interactions between matter and energy.

Completing these years of scientific probing, Valencia students graduated prepared to apply scientific thought to daily problems as well as to be versed in the field of science.

Physical Education Classes Improved Tiger Stamina

"Nine, two, three, four; ten, two, class halt." Familiar words like these echoed throughout the north end of Valencia as daily PE classes began a regular program of calisthenics followed by a variety of sports.

Male physical education programs included sports designed to please all. Team, individual, or co-ed classes were often selected by underclassmen; whereas upperclassmen usually concentrated in a few sports. These specific sports were offered in seventh period interscholastic PE; they also satisfied state requirements.

Physical education classes for the fairer sex also stressed variety. Besides the team, individual, and co-ed classes, girls chose between Drill Team and seventh period GAA classes.

These PE offerings, coupled with the highly selective Pepsters class, open to both boys and girls, gave Valencia tigers their strength, stamina, and athletic skill.

Court games such as basketball encouraged active athletic participation while strengthening skills.

Seventh period GAA physical education classes gave girls an opportunity to test their athletic prowess against teams from other schools.

SENIORS

Class Of '68 Ordered Announcements

All the challenges of high school seemed small when compared to the great challenge that looms before the Senior Class. Soon they will face the larger world, and their success or failure in this encounter depended on the extent of their ambition, abilities, and perseverance. Valencia has given them the intellectual background and the moral principles on which to base their future, but the burden of personal commitment rests with the Seniors themselves.

The Senior spent his last year at Valencia with thoughts of the past, worries of the present, and bewilderment for the future. It was hard to realize that four years ago he entered here for the first time, and in a short while he will leave here for the last time as a student.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Ordering Of Rings Highlighted Year

The Class of '69 started off the year with moneymaking projects. The Junior Class Car Wash and "Harvey," helped to raise money to put towards the Junior-Senior Prom. Prom turned out to be an elegant and successful affair being held at The Charter House.

The highlight of the year was the receiving of the Junior Class rings. Added status as upperclassmen carries added responsibility. As apprentices to the Seniors they trained for future leadership.

Super Sophs. Showed Spirit

Sophomores returned to Valencia anticipating the prospect of either making the Junior Varsity teams or participating on the drill team. With mixed feelings, they faced the challenges of stimulating biology and geometry classes. As the year progressed, athletic events, pep assemblies, and class sweaters and jackets spiraled the ever increasing Sophomore spirit. Then, as June drew near, the Sophomores were able to look back on a successful, spirited year.

Freshman Adjusted To High School Life

Under the leadership of President Bob Putman, the Freshman class emerged with the enthusiasm and new ideas typical of Valencia Tigers. At the weekly Pep Rally, the Freshman section was continually jam-packed with a yelling and a invigorating class. This spirit did not go unnoticed, since they were awarded the "Spirit Stick" several weeks. The Frosh kept up with world affairs by sending the men in Vietnam Christmas packages, a new tradition which proved to be very successful throughout the campus. The Freshman class's first year at Valencia High School showed the flame of their desires and eagerness to succeed, the flame that persistently reverberates.

STUDENT LIFE

Student Council And Senators Provided

Activities Chairman, Judi Stack (second from left), verbalized her opinions for an upcoming assembly with Gary Fox, Cindy Parker, Gary Grobecker, and Terry Somerville.

Student council was the body to which the students looked when united action was needed. This student elected group was the voice of our student body. Comments and ideas given to student council members by other students were directly responsible for many school improvements. To the council we owe our thanks for their support in numerous traditional events.

A Link Between Students And Faculty

Student Senate elected for their officers: Gary Grobecker as President, and Donna Overstreet and Judy Nagy as Secretaries.

Under the guiding influence of president Gary Grobecker, the student senate met bi-weekly to discuss and act upon the problems of the campus. The senate proved instrumental in helping carry out plans for various activities such as the candy sale, homecoming, and dances. Serving as senators were representatives of all campus clubs, committees, leagues, and first period classes.

Student Senators voiced problems and resolved solutions.

"Fashion Chemistry" Formulated Agenda

Girl's League was one of the most active groups at Valencia. Sponsoring the canned food drive, the Alumni Tea, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, a fashion show featuring "Fashion Chemistry," the Big and Little Sister Tea, and trying to involve students in campus activities were a few of their many achievements. Under the capable guidance of Pat Hedges, and Barbara Smurr, Girl's League proved invaluable as a Valencia service club.

Prominent officers of the cabinet included Joan Hayden, president, Linda Collier, vice-president, and Jo Rodriguez, secretary.

Boy Of The Month Selected By Boy's League

This year the Boy's League got into high gear by having an All Boys Assembly where a film of the Indianapolis 500 was shown. Later in the year the Boy's League had a Karate & Judo demonstration which was enjoyed by all the boys and, when it was over, everyone thought he was a Karate expert. The foregoing were a few activities that the Boy's League sponsored. We believe everyone enjoyed them and they were well accepted by the male student body.

Valencia Americanized Nickie

Nickie received Tigers enthusiastically.

Nickie acquired knowledge of American economics.

Activities at Valencia absorbed Nickie's support.

Jeff Sullivan greeted Nickie with the usual Tiger warmth.

Edgar Activated Tigertown

A volleyball game inspired Edgar's active participation at the senior Co-Rec.

Edgar was an enthusiastic Valencia tiger.

Valencia's only American Field Service exchange student, Edgar Freese, was chosen in July of 1967 to represent West Germany in the United States. Edgar was attending the Max Planck Gymnasium in Munich before he came to Valencia.

Active in football and tennis, Edgar also belonged to the German and International Clubs. In the spirit of Valencia, Edgar became a pepster for the Powderpuff pep rally and for the ensuing football game.

Edgar "danced all night" at the AFS Battle of the Bands.

Coalition Created International Club

International Club was formed through the coalition of two similar clubs, Youth for Understanding and the American Field Service. They sponsored a calendar sale, had a float in the Homecoming parade, had four exchange students, and took applications for AFS and YFU exchange students from Valencia.

The money they earned in the calendar sale will be used to strengthen and promote understanding among the world's youth, and to pay for their many club activities.

Foreign students Tommy, Edgar, Nickie, and Jorge were very active members of International Club.

liams, Mary Burnell, Mark White, Mary O'Shaughnessy, Dale Hines, Roberta Edelson, Mary Trainer, Leona Hiner, Linda Ennis, Gordon Vessey.

Tommy And Jorge Brightened The Valencia Campus

Jorge enjoyed studying in the United States at Valencia.

Daniel Charles Thompson Ansorena, better known around campus as Tommy, arrived mid-term at Valencia from Mercedes, Uruguay.

Residing at Trevor Street, in Anaheim with the Donald Marxin family, he has made himself well-known around Valencia. All our foreign exchange students are involved in the Student Council leadership class. In addition, Tommy is a member of the Spanish and International Clubs.

From Rio de Janeiro came Jorge Gross, our foreign representative from Brazil. Jorge, like Tommy, arrived after Christmas, making the total exchange students number four, the largest number in the history of Valencia.

Seventeen years old, Jorge came over through Youth for Understanding, a government sponsored program. In order to be selected as an exchange student, he had to pass three tests in English and World History. He previously attended Pe Antonio Vierra, but according to Jorge, Valencia has many more school activities.

Tommy and Jorge just after arriving from South America.

Co-Rec Was Co-Planned

To further the understanding of a foreign language and culture, the teachers of three of the major languages offered at Valencia sponsored language clubs.

Herr Koehn, Koenigus, and señor Valadez assisted and advised club presidents Sheryl Krausert, Andrea Bentley, and Linda Rawson with the smooth functioning of the German, Latin, and Spanish clubs respectively.

These clubs counted modern-day Roman orgies and Spanish fiestas among their activities. Each of the German and Spanish clubs also sponsored a homecoming float and co-sponsored a spring Co-Rec, which was a night of fun, games, sports, dancing, and pillow fighting.

Educational activities also played a part in these clubs. One of the most entertaining was a Spanish club trip to UCI for an evening of 15 various acts from the Spanish versions of such famous plays as "Macbeth," the "Threepenny Opera," and "Death of a Salesman."

Displaying posters of Hamburg and Germany, the German Club float proudly rode down Bradford Avenue on Homecoming afternoon.

Combined meetings of the German and Spanish clubs were necessary three days a week in order to plan and organize the Co-Rec.

Future Teachers Planned Careers

Valencia Tigers who participated in the Future Teachers of America Club enjoyed a busy and very rewarding year. They visited the Fairview Hospital for the Mentally Retarded, attended a conference at USC, sponsored a bake sale, and listened to speakers elucidate on the rewards and drawbacks of teaching.

This club kept interest in teaching careers widespread and promoted new concepts in teaching.

Officers: Michelle Cox—president, Rebecca Hildebrand—vice-president and Carol Vesely—secretary. Not shown is Cris Spicer—treasurer.

Ag. IO Combined

Tracy Torgerson

Tom Meleo

Valencia High School's Agriculture Department concluded a most successful year by the winning of five awards. The fifty members plowed through tough competition in ten local and three state contests, the Los Angeles and Orange County Fairs, the Great Western Showgrounds. The award winners were Tracy Torgerson, Dave Waroff, and Dave Wenrick.

Dave Wenrick groomed a prize winning sheep.

For Unified Results

Members of the IO construction club worked on cattle pens constructed at the Ag. Farm.

IO construction was a class for junior and senior boys who planned to enter into the construction field after graduation. Students enrolled in IO construction got supplemental training in Technical English, Math, and Science.

Construction of the shed and pens at the Ag. Farm was the biggest project of the year. The shed was built in eight sections, 13x96. Each section took about a week to make.

NFL, Debate Resounded

John DeNike

Open to students active in speech activities, the National Forensics League led a successful year under the direction of John DeNike. To become a member, a student must earn twenty-five points through tournaments. The National Forensics League had more members than ever before.

When a student entered in a debate, he earned twice as many points per tournament than a NFL member earned. Debate discussed such topics as "Should Congress establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures?"

The National Forensics League and Debate concluded a successful year by sponsoring a tournament at Valencia High School.

Mickie LeHouillier, and Marti Diaz proudly accept their trophies in individual events from Steve Wells.

Marti Diaz emphasizes an important point in her speech in original oratory.

CSF Merited Many Scholars

President—Don Pickrell

Vice-president—Mark Spitler

Valencia's chapter of the California Scholarship Federation sponsored "Blue and Gold on Review," the annual homecoming dance. The field trip in May highlighted the activities of CSF.

Ten points per semester, accumulated by three points for each "A" and one point for each "B," qualified a student for membership. At the end of the 67-68 academic school year, CSF announced their sealbearers. A record of membership of four semesters out of six during the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, with at least one semester in the twelfth grade, authorized a student to become a sealbearer.

Officers for the 67-68 semesters consisted of Don Pickrell—President, Mark Spitler—Vice-president, Andrea Bentley—Secretary, and Joanne Boutin—Treasurer. CSF operated under the capable advice of Louise Levy.

Tomes of books piled high for the intellectual student.

Float Award Taken By Dramatists And Thespians

Thespian officers and advisor included (1st. row) Ruth Glunt, Jan Bartholomew. (2nd row) Linda Levin, Randy Sykes, Tina Bucivalis.

Drama Club officers consisted of Carolyn Morrow, Tina Bucivalis, and Linda Ennis.

Thespian initiation was held in March, following "Winnie the Pooh" and "The Night of One Acts." Students that qualified for Thespians, i.e., had a total of ten points from important parts in plays, were asked to perform in a oneact play on this night. Some of the plays were "Overtones," "Curse You Jack Dalton," "Journey to Camden and Treton," and "Eddie Greet a Hero." The Thespian and Drama Clubs worked together to devise the "Most Beautiful Float" in the homecoming parade.

Jan Bartholomew and Randy Sykes led Thespians in their numerous activities. Officers for Drama Club consisted of Carolyn Morrow, Linda Ennis, and Tina Bucivallis.

Cast of "Winnie the Pooh" prepared their makeup.

Carla Conklin and Malcolm Campbell rehearsed for "The Miser."

Extensive Rehearsal Yielded "Winnie The Pooh"

Performers Leslie Russell, Pat Morris, Chris Winney, and Randy Sykes in "If Girls Asked Boys for Dates" listened to comments from Jan Bartholomew, a realistic mother.

Cliff Campion in a rehearsal for "Winnie the Pooh," climbed a papier maché tree for hidden honey.

Pat Morris, Leslie Russell and Linda Ennis played Roo, Piglet and Kanga in the March production of "Winni the Pooh."

Charles Gibbs, Donna Stump, Patty Friend, and Steve Wells attempted to free Pooh in his time of peril.

And "The Miser" As Final Achievements

Pat Morris flirted with a shy Randy Sykes in "If Girls Asked Boys for Dates" a February production.

Drama Productions successfully presented several entertaining plays for the Valencia student body. Gary Grobecker, Stevie Parker, Cliff Campion and Lee Trachtenberg were featured in the December "Harvey" presentation—the story involving an imaginary seven foot rabbit. "Everyman," a medieval morality play, gained an exclusive audience consisting of senior English classes to supplement a literary study of the middle ages.

"Winnie the Pooh," starring Cliff Campion, Gary Grobecker, Linda Ennis, Steve Wells and other talented students, came to life in march on the VHS stage. Also in March, rehearsals began for an April presentation of "The Miser."

Gary Grobecker and Steve Wells played the parts of Elwood P. Dowd and Wilson in "Harvey."

The Art club was composed of Jane Pembly, Sue Gorham, Anne Reichling, Joyce O'Connell, Linda Levin, Sharon Simmons, Paula Rogers, and (standing) Jana Knight, Marjorie Druff, Betty Schoen, Linda Matheny, John Walcek, Gary Nichols, and Rebecca Pickering.

To further stimulate their creative talents, interested art students met at noon each week to plan and organize their club activities. These included a homecoming float entry, an off-campus excursion, and a May art exhibit and sale. Advised by Mrs. Higbee, Jana Knight, the club president, led her fellow artists along the road of artistic creativity.

Art club officers, Gary Nichols, Jana Knight, John Walcek, and Jane Pembly, evaluated this piece of art work.

Quill And Scroll Represented High Honor

Membership in Quill and Scroll, an international society for high school journalists, is one of the highest honors bestowed on students at Valencia High School.

New members were tapped at the annual Publications Banquet in May on the basis of high scholarship and outstanding contribution to the year-book or newspaper.

Activities highlighting the Quill and Scroll year were sponsoring the annual Christmas bulletin board contest and editing the campus literary magazine, Keystones.

Officers this year were Gillian King, president; Jana Knight, vice-president; and Lee Trachtenberg, secretary. New members included Linda Rawson, Nick Filie, Mark Spitler, and Jeannie Dodson.

Mrs. Emilie Disen, who is serving a second two-year term as president of the Orange County Journalism Education Association, was Quill and Scroll advisor.

Gillian King, Lee Trachtenberg, and Jana Knight conferred with advisor Mrs. Disen (seated) over literature for their magazine Keystones.

Mark Spitler and Nick Filie were chosen from the El Tigre staff.

New members Linda Rawson and Jeannie Dodson (not pictured) represented the Tesoros staff.

El Tigre Made

Student body fads and fancies, sports and social events all found their way into this interesting and informative publication. Under the leadership of Lee Trachtenberg and the direction of Emilie Disen, El Tigre was led to a successful and profitable year. Loyalty and enthusiasm on the part of staff members assured this journalistic success. For the fourth consecutive semester, El Tigre captured the All-American Award. Editorial controversies this year have concerned the senior quad, dress regulations and other campus problems.

Girls Chose Dates For Sadie Hawkins Dance

Debbie Schoenberg and Ralph Phraner reigned over Sadie Hawkins.

The annual Sadie Hawkins dance, Feb. 2, was led by Ralph Phraner and Debbie Schoenberg as Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae. Selected by the penny-a-vote election, the hillbilly royalty reigned to the music of the "Californians." The dance featured David "marryin' Sam" Tansey in performing marriage rites for all interested couples. The pie eating contest was won by speedster Tad Day who received another pie for his efforts.

"A day in dogpatch" preceeded the dance as students dressed in hillbilly garb during school hours.

Jeannie Dodson
Editor-in-Chief

A new and inexperienced staff started Tesoros '68 this past September, but an older and experienced staff finished Tesoros '68. Hard work, long hours, and tense situation challenged editor-in-chief Jeannie Dodson, layout editor Vickie Parrish, copy editors Diana Gilmor and Linda Rawson, and sports editor Joan Owen. Coordinating sales were business managers Sally Herstine and Greg Jones. Laboring just as hard was the assistant editor Sandra Waskowski, and other staff members Bob Brown, Steve Nycum, Mary O'Shaughnessy, Suzy Schnur, and Cay West. Gary LaRose and Bob Snead operated the photography for Tesoros '68. Advisor Ray Pharr was indispensable.

Uniform pattern problems, elusive tiger tails, complicated routines, and the muddy football field were unable to daunt the spirit of the 1967-68 Tigerette Drill Team as they practiced both during and after school hours to brighten Valencia's half-time activities.

Under the able leadership of Captain Linda Collier and Co-captain Margaret Donovan, and with the help of advisor Sue Lancaster and manager Kathy Lesikar, the sixty-four members, many of them new to the Drill Team, completed a successful and rewarding year.

Tiger paws, tiger vees, tiger berets, and Tigerettes Jeannie Dodson, Diana Gilmor, Alice Tillman, Carla Conklin, Beth Winterling, Sue Sturdevant, Penny Hurst, Dara Martinez, Linda Rawson, Laura Hall, and Co-captain Margaret Donovan helped to make "Alley Cat" a success.

Outstanding Seniors Honored For

Don Pickrell, Mark Spittler, Jana Knight, and Lynda Monroe received Bank of America plaques for their excellence in liberal arts, science and mathematics, fine arts, and vocational arts, respectively.

Fame, distinction, and honor were brought to Valencia as 22 seniors were rewarded for their academic excellence. Bank of America certificates, applauding accomplishment in specific fields, were awarded to twelve, while Bank of America plaques, which recognized excellence in general areas of study, were received by four. Don Pickrell was promoted to a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test; while nine other seniors acquired letters of commendation from this competition. In addition to national recognition, 17 seniors received a state honor by being named semi-finalists for state scholarships.

These recognitions not only testified to the excellence of the education offered at Valencia, but also served as a reward for those who received them and a stimulus for future seniors.

Receiving Bank of America certificates for achievement in specific fields were Cathy Ankeney, social sciences; Linda Rawson, home economics; Andrea Bentley, foreign languages; Lee Trachtenberg, English; Dave Gibson, music; David Wenrick, agriculture; Steve Wells, mathematics; Cassie Scalia, business; Rebecca Pickering, art; and not pictured were Gary Grobecker, drama; and Dennis Willis, trades and industrial arts.

Academic Achievements

During their junior year, Steve Wells, Val Parkin, Dave Gibson, Mark Spitler, Bruce Kelly, Linda Rawson, Carol Graul, Kathy Williams, and Eric Disen, (who is not pictured), took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test; and as a result of their scores, received letters of commendation. This distinction placed them in the top 2% of the nation's graduating seniors.

Don Pickrell scored well on the NMSQT and was selected as a finalist which placed him within the top 1/2% of the nation's seniors.

Homecoming 1967

Permeating the entire campus, homecoming activities began with the selecting of the theme "New and Old, Blue and Gold" by the Student Council and Senators. The football team nominated eighteen candidates for the Homecoming Queen and her attendants. Highlighting the coronation assembly was the crowning of the new queen, Marsha Bodini, by Peggy Black, her predecessor, and the announcing of the senior princesses Sue Aston and Maggie Shelley, junior attendant Lynn Alumbaugh, sophomore attendant Pam Lee, and freshman attendant Kathy Friend.

Three outstanding Homecoming Happenings, clash day, crazy hat day, and blue and gold day, swept the entire campus. Valencia Tigers brightened the campus with clashing garments, bewildered the faculty with confusing headgear, and dignified the Tiger tradition with blue and gold habiliment.

Assistant Principals Joe Dunham through participation in "The New parade."

Happenings

Echoed

The climax of homecoming week took place Saturday, October 21. That morning a myriad of floats crammed the Valencia parking lot while a multitude of Tigers decorated with zeal. The parade route down Bradford commenced at one o'clock with Grand Marshall Roy Tillary in the lead. The Senior Class float captured the Grand Marshall and Sweepstakes awards. Other awards presented were Most Original float to the Junior Class, Most Humorous float to the Thespian and Drama Clubs, and the Most Beautiful float to NFL. Saturday evening the victorious Tigers conquered the Estancia Eagles 9 to 7. "Blue and Gold on Review," the Homecoming dance, terminated Homecoming Happenings, 1967.

ATHLETICS

Varsity Yell Captured Honors

It takes more than a floppy blue and gold sweater and a battered megaphone to make a cheerleader—it takes a great amount of heart.

Yell leaders have to overlook all obstacles—a sparse crowd, bad weather, a losing score—and throw everything they have into inspiring the crowd to cheer.

This year's squad has lived up to this definition and much much more. For the first time in three years, Valencia had a boy to add pep and vitality to the already spirited group.

Songsters—Femininity And Talent Combined

Versatility was the key word for the 1967-68 Songleaders. Snappy routines and rustling pompons characterized the Songsters debut in football season. Basketball brought about ruffled pinafores and "Land of 1000 Dances." Their routines and formations, performed to the music of pep band at athletic contests and rallies, displayed skill and timing.

The Songleaders aided the other Pepsters in sign-making, gift-giving, and accepting victory and defeat graciously.

Soared To New Heights

Valencia has never lacked spirit, but this year something new was added—originality. The crowd roared when the Red Baron was overcome by Snoopy. The teams beamed when pep squads rose at four a.m. to put signs on their houses. This was the year that was!

JV Yell—Vim And Vigor

Working on a somewhat smaller scale than the Varsity pep squads, yet performing with just as much drive and enthusiasm were the Junior Varsity Yell Leaders. Theirs was the task of molding strong competitive spirit within their classes for pep rallies, junior varsity, Bee, and Cee games. The sophomore and freshman classes have both won the "Spirit Stick," and judging from the tremendous amount of spirit shown this year, the JV's performed their task well. This was proven when the JV's placed 3rd in the state at the Arroyo Spring competition.

Varsity Gridders Lead Tigers

Head Coach John Brennan

Emphatically rediscovering Valencia's football prowess, the '67 varsity football team sent spirit flying and landed third in league play.

The Tiger year began with the squad scoring more points against Sunny Hills than the entire point total for 1966; however the Lancers still managed to edge Valencia, 25-33. This small setback did not stifle the team's drive for wins. Victory followed victory, and the squad combined the efforts of both offensive and defensive units to end league play with a four wins, three losses record and the naming of six Valencia starters to the Irvin All League team. Acquiring this honor for VHS and for the football team were Pat Shanley, Al Rodriguez, John Cyrus, and Kevin Ferguson, who were selected for the first team, and Randy Peterson and Terry Somerville who were chosen for the second team. The successful year and praise-worthy members of the '67 varsity football team were led by the Irvine League Coach of the Year, John Brennan.

'68 Sights And Sounds Faded Will Never Cease To Resound

A year of victories and defeats has faded into the unforgotten years of high school at Valencia. The students will remember the studying and the playing, and the teachers will remember the teaching and the learning. Both will remember a feeling of accomplishment at the end of each year.

Tesoros 1968 appreciated the assistance of Ray Pound Studios, and student photographers Daniel Boone, Tom Johnson, Gary LaRose, and Bob Snead.

Into The Summer Wind, But In The Years To Come

All hail to thee, Valencia
The school that we all love
Between the mountains and the sea,
With smiling skies above.
In contest and activities
Our efforts must not fail;
We join to lift our banner high,

Connie,
God Bless you for being my friend. I think you'll be a great flyer! At least you're tall enough!

Dear
Connie
So I don't start. I have you as a friend and all the good times I know where at the best of course was last year. I only wish you could have come to the ones in Costa Rica. Remember Had "I'll never forget that night." And what is. Also don't forget Eric was the times we went shopping together. And we went in your pool & down the
And before you go into the air force.
Remember Susan Lancaster. We were party. I hope you go into the P.C. kitchen & really old. That was pretty good at
We passed all the classes so That really was a lot of fun. I want handwriting. I had a lot of fun. I want beginning of the year. I want to be ending soon, but I want
I wish you had the best of everything of friends & I want to ask for & I want to you for & I want to this & I want to alone. I want to Love
